

Report on communication skill for CRRIS

A Communication skills programme for CRRIs was organized by the Department of Psychiatry as a part of the student capacity enhancement program. The program was on from March 2018 to May 2018. The communication skills session classes were taken for two hours per day on every Saturday. The resource person of our institution was involved in taking both lecture and demonstration sessions in basic communication skill course. They were taught the different types of interviewing techniques. They were also sensitized to manage difficult situations like breaking the bad news, handling the rough patients and attenders. At the end of the course, a feedback was obtained and analysed at the end of the session.
